

Bachelor of Arts with a Major in Global Studies

Required 120 credits (36 of which must be numbered 300 or above, and 30 of which must be from UND) including:

I. Essential Studies requirements (See University ES listing)

II. A major in Global Studies consists of 30 credits plus language credits. The program is organized into four categories: Global Perspectives, World Language, Thematic Concentration, and Experiential Learning. Students may choose a thematic concentration from the following options: 1) Development Studies, 2) European Studies, 3) Human Rights, Peace & Conflict, 4) Indigenous Studies, 5) Intercultural Competency, 6) International Relations & Diplomacy, 7) The Arctic North. Students are also required to participate in an experiential learning opportunity, one option being a study abroad experience through a University sponsored program.

Language

Level IV Proficiency (4 semesters) in a world language is required and can be fulfilled through the following:

- Students can complete this requirement (16 credits) through courses in Ancient Greek, French, German, Latin, Norwegian, or Spanish offered by the Department of Languages and Global Studies.
- Students wishing to fulfill their language requirement through the study of American Sign Language (12 credits) or American Indian languages (12 credits) are encouraged to do so and should speak with the Director of Global Studies. Level II proficiency is offered at UND and options for advanced study are available through Lake Region State College and the North Dakota Tribal College System.
- Students with prior world language experience are encouraged to enroll in lateral credits or request the evaluation of achievements such as International Baccalaureate, Seal of Biliteracy, and other such credentials. See the Director of Global Studies or the Global Studies advisor to discuss your options.
- Non-native speakers of English may choose to use English to fulfill the world language requirement.
